CONFIDENTIAL

Dear Valued Customer,

We are writing to express our deepest gratitude for being such a loyal and compliant customer over the years.

Thanks to your continued patronage we have successfully sold your complete browsing history, search queries, location data, app usage, and household demographics to over 47 advertising partners this quarter alone. We couldn't have done it without you.

Literally.

(Not like you had a choice. We spent $234 million lobbying Congress in 2017 to make sure of that. You're welcome.)

We especially want to thank you for the data your children generated this year. Kid profiles are worth 3x adult profiles on the open market. Very lucrative. Very appreciated.

As a token of our appreciation we would like to present you with your share of the billions we made selling your personal information:

$0.00

(Please note this letter will be included in your monthly bill. Processing fee applies.)

We look forward to another year of monitoring everything you do online without your knowledge or consent.

Warmly,

Your Internet Service Provider

LEGALDISCLOSURE: This letter is satirical. The data collection practices described are unfortunately real. In 2017 Congress voted to eliminate FCC broadband privacy rules, legally permitting ISPs to collect and sell customer browsing data without consent. Source: FCC Broadband Privacy Rules, 2017. American Internet Providers, Inc. is a fictional company. Comcast, AT&T, and Verizon are real companies with real data practices.
